A Survey of the Men on the Firing Line in Dual Attack on the NRA

WASHINGTON—Is Business dominating the NRA or is the NRA choking business?

That question today is perhaps the most important asked of the Administration's Recovery Program. It is being asked by Ogden Mills, who claims that business recovery is impeded by NRA restrictions. It is being asked on Capitol Hill where Senators Borah, Nye and other Progressives claim that the Blue Eagle flies along a narrow course charted solely by Big Business.

As a result, a critical lens is being applied to General Johnson's administrators. These are the men on the firing line; men basically responsible for the writing of codes governing the entire industry of the United States. General Johnson approves the codes in the end. So also does the President. But their attention can be concentrated only on a few of the major industries.

By and large, the man who presides at code hearings decides upon concessions to be given the consumer, the privileges granted to industry, and in the end writes the code, holds the key to the NRA.

This man is the Administrator. There are a total of 115 senior and junior administrators in the NRA, all in charge of different Divisions, or groupings of industry.

And the most accurate answer to the question of whether Business dominates the NRA or the NRA dominates Business is a scrutiny of the experience and background of these Administrators. Here is a cross section of the record:

Division No. 1

Coal, automobiles, iron, steel, shipping, the biggest industries of the Nation are grouped in Division No. 1. Its Administrator, K. M. Simpson, an old friend of Johnson's, a metallurgical engineer of extensive experience, a man of real professional ability, but a poor executive—timid, uncertain, easily rattled, seemingly awed by the names of the big business world.

K. J. Ammerman, Administrator in charge of the automobile code, came directly from that industry as New Jersey sales manager of Packard, and as one-time Assistant to the President of the American Car & Foundry Motor Co., a subsidiary of ex-Secretary Woodin's great corporation.

G. H. Shields, Ill., Deputy Administrator in charge of the shipping code, is a Boston blue-stocking, who views the industrial problem from the rarified heights of the Harvard Club and an apprenticeship in the Tory environs of Scudder, Stevens & Clark, large on investment firm.

W. A. Janssen, latest Deputy Administrator handling the utilities, has a background of several years with the mighty General Electric to assist him in this extremely critical job.

A. L. Kress, Deputy Administrator for rubber, views his problem from the vantage point of many years on the payroll of the United States Rubber Company.

W. A. Janssen, latest Deputy Administrator to be put in charge of the long and bitterly contested aluminum code, written by Andrew W. Mellon's monopolistic Aluminum Company of America, came to his task as a metallurgical engineer with the Malleable Iron Co., of Pittsburgh and the Vanadium Alloys Corporation.

Millionaire and Labor Leader

Under Division No. 2 are the great construction materials and capital goods industries. At its head is W. A. Harriman, son of the great railroad magnate and financier. By inheritance a multi-millionaire and heavily interested in railroads, Harriman is earnest, hard-working, a tepidly liberal friend and supporter of President Roosevelt, and brother to Mrs. Mary Ramsey, socialist chairman

BREMER HELPS IN SEARCH FOR RANSOM 'GANG'

Man Still Nervous After 22-Day Ordeal; Head Wounds Healed

14 MEN IN GANG?

Magee Named as One Who Paid $200,000

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 9.—Edward G. Bremer, his freedom regained through payment of $200,000 ransom after 22 days of captivity, today earnestly co-operated with federal, state and St. Paul authorities in a combined manhunt for his kidnapers.

Although still shaken and nervous from his ordeal, the wealthy banker recounted to federal department of justice agents the details of his abduction, the ride to the kidnapers' hideout and his release from a small coupe in Rochester, Minn., late Wednesday night.

Bremer gave repeated accounts of significant interludes of his three weeks absence to Werner Hamel, in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here, and other federal operatives.

On the basis of Bremer's detailed story, department of justice and detectives centered their search today for the kidnapers' hideout in Kansas City and in Sioux City, Ia.

WOUNDS HEALED

Bremer still remained in the seclusion of his home on the advice of Dr. Joseph Sprafka, who described the victim's condition as "extremely nervous." Two wounds on the banker's head, inflicted by the abductors Jan. 17 when he tried to escape his captors, were virtually healed, however.

His kidnapers numbered at least ten men and perhaps fourteen, Bremer told his questioners he judged from the sounds of their voices while he was a prisoner. Several of these were in the gang that seized him in his automobile as it stopped for a street intersection on the morning of Jan. 17.

The gang maintained a constant guard over their victim in a darkened room, he said, and snatches of whispered conversation came to him from an adjoining chamber as the kidnapers occasionally discussed their problems.

200 JOIN SEARCH

With all restraint lifted from the investigation, the federal department of justice force swung rapidly into the manhunt, leading a combined force of state and city police that numbered in all nearly 200 men. Until Bremer returned home authorities had heeded the request of his aged father, Adolph

SANKEY TAKES LIFE IN CELL

No. 1 Criminal Dies Rather Than Face Life in Prison For Abduction.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 9.—Grief-stricken and weeping continuously in her jail cell, Mrs. Verne Sankey today was on the point of a breakdown with the suicide of her desperado husband, confessed kidnaper of Charles T. Boettcher II. Sankey chose death rather than imprisonment for life.

Under indictment for the same kidnapping and confined in the county jail here, Mrs. Sankey cried hysterically when authorities told her "Verne is dead." She took it "plenty bad," guards said.

SIOUX CITY, S. D., Feb. 9.—Verne Sankey, branded as "America's public enemy No. 1" while a suspect in the kidnap murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., today had chosen death by his own hand rather than face life imprisonment for the kidnapping of Charles A. Boettcher II of Denver.

Scheduled to be arraigned today for the $60,000 ransom abduction of the Denver millionaire, Sankey hanged himself in his solitary confinement cell at the state penitentiary here last night shortly after the dinner hour.

Sankey brought his career as gambler, bootlegger and notorious kidnaper to a sudden end by fashioning a noose from his cheap necktie. He fastened the necktie to an upper cross bar in his cell, looped it about his neck and jumped off the cell cot.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 9.—Staking her hope for acquittal upon a claim of self-defense, Mrs. Eva Timmer, 42-year-old Ferndale, Mich., widow, dramatically took the witness stand in her own defense today in her trial for the first degree murder of R. V. Brown, former Powhatan Point, O., marshal.

Vividly and unflinchingly, Mrs. Timmer related her version of what happened on the night of Friday, October 13, when Brown, a medicine show proprietor, was shot and killed and his body dumped in a ditch along a road between Carey and Upper Sandusky.

KILBY PRISON, MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 9.—"Oh, yes, I'm gwine up, gwine up, gwine up," gwine Lord, I'm gwine up, gwine up to see de heavenly lan'."

Chanting their way into eternity, five cotton field negroes who forsook the simple ways of the southern rural folk and slew ruthlessly in outbursts of jungle madness, went to their death in the grim Kilby prison's electric chair early today.

They died like men, these five murderers, in a fervor of religious zeal and without murmured complaint on their lips as swift Alabama justice exacted the toll of a life for a life in a mass execution unparalleled in modern times.

FDR PRESENTS DRASTIC STOCK MARKET PLANS

Regulatory Bill Placing Market Under Commission is in Congress

PASSAGE CERTAIN

History Created With Numerous Restrictions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Roosevelt this afternoon presented to Congress the most drastic stock exchange regulatory bill in the nation's history.

Prohibiting pools, severely restricting margins and placing the Federal Trade commission in charge of administration, the measure was submitted to the nation's law makers with a message from the White House.

Pronounced an administration measure, the bill was certain to pass, but public hearings will delay its placement on the statute books for at least three weeks, Senate leaders said.

EFFECTIVE OCT. 1

The bill would become effective on October 1, 1934.

Crief provisions of the bill follow:

1. The federal trade commission is designated as the regulatory body with ample power to compel registration of exchanges provided in the measure.

2. "Teeth" are incorporated in the measure which provides maximum fines of $25,000 and imprisonment of 10 years for persons who violate any provision of the act.

3. Manipulation of the prices of stocks is made a criminal offense.

Devices expressly outlawed are: Washed sales.

Matched orders.

Pools and any combination made to create a false impression as to the market for a security.

MARION MAN SEEKS GOVERNOR'S POST?

Report Fletcher Ready to Enter Race With Sawyer, Pickrel, Davey.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—Possibility was discussed in political circles here today that another hat may be tossed into the ring for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Ohio.

The latest speculation centered about the name of Congressman Brooks Fletcher of Marion.

Intimation that Fletcher is eyeing the gubernatorial chair with interest was given in a letter received at Bucyrus from E. C. Wrede, although the letter was principally concerned with proposed bank tax legislation. Wrede added significantly:

Congressman Fletcher may have occasion to discuss this issue in the primary campaign as a potential candidate for governor.

Entrance of Fletcher into the Democratic gubernatorial ring would bring a fourth aspirant for the office. Three already are in the field. They are Lieutenant Governor Charles Sawyer, former Lieutenant governor William G. Pickrel of Dayton, and former Congressman Martin L. Davey of Kent.

BOWSHER GAINS PAROLE HEARING

Harold Bowsheer, Circleville youth has experienced a colored crime career, will be eligible for a parole hearing on April 1, Judge Joseph W. Adkins, of common pleas court, has been informed by D. J. Bonzo, record clerk.

Bowsheer was sent to the institution May 13, 1932, for burglarizing the service station of Newell McNeal, Williamsport. While held in the county jail he confessed a number of other robberies including Barrere-Nickerson hardware, an attempt to enter the W. Main-st. A. & P. store at which time Officer Fred Fitzpatrick shot a hole in his trouser leg, and several other crimes.

Bowsheer has served in the industrial school and in two penitentiaries once serving time in a western state for pushing another youth under a train.

Notice has also been received for two other parole hearings, Charles Willoughby and H. E. Green, sent to the Mansfield reformatory for stealing chickens from Harley Runkle, Madison-twp.

Each is serving a one to 15 year term.

Willoughby was shot through the legs when he tried to escape officers who tried to arrest him. Their hearings are scheduled March 1.

Nathan Bohnert Bids Third Term

Monroe-Twp Democrat Makes Lengthy Statement, Enumerating Record, and Problems of 89th and 90th Legislatures; Man is Only Office-holder in County Living West of the Scioto River.

Nathan C. Bohnert, Monroe-twp Democrat, who is serving Pickaway-co for the fourth year as representative in the General Assembly, today announced his candidacy for a third term.

Mr. Bohnert is the first democrat to officially become a candidate at the August primaries. The only other candidate is a Republican, Marion Sensenbrenner, E. Union-st., who is also seeking to be Pickaway-co's representative.

Mr. Bohnert's statement of candidacy follows:

"In announcing myself as a candidate for a member of the State Legislature, I do it fully realizing that it means a change in the traditions of the party in the County relative to the office I seek. New Deals are the order of the times; Deals are the order of the times; I know that the public is demanding that party ties and party traditions must be broken if we are to have New Deals that will help the overburdened in all of our Governmental functions. Our constituents are paying more attention to a public official's services than to party ties and party traditions.

"As a candidate, I cite my record in the past two General Assemblies; I ask an inspection of my vote on very important questions. I cite my record in my efforts for labor, the reduction of taxes, and for the interests of the honest taxpayer. My record will show that I have been on the job and am an honest, fearless and tireless worker."

"Three of the most important of the four amendments that the voters of the State and this county adopted last fall by large majorities received my hearty support in the House of Representatives."

"I was one of the three members

Man's Arrest Shatters Southern Ohio 'Racket'

Arrest of a Cincinnati man for investigation by Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, Tuesday night, had developed into a pretty good 'catch' today with the man having confessed a 'racket' which has had police of several southern cities running around in circles for the past six months.

Ed. Smith, 30, of 1052 Flint-st., Cincinnati, is held now in the Brown-co jail at Georgetown after confessing the 'racket' at Hillsboro Thursday afternoon when he was confronted by his brother, Robert.

Smith had been traveling through southern Ohio cities 'borrowing' electric drills and never returning them. He got several in Georgetown, and at least two in Athens, both of which were found here by Deputy Fissell.

Smith had sold them at two local garages, each for $9. One of the drills was worth $75 and had been

PART OF TAX PLAN BEATEN

Three of Six Presented Have Been Killed By Special Committees.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—Half of the special joint taxation commission's program for temporary fiscal relief lay in the discard today as the House of Representatives tax committee met to act on two other measures.

Six bills have been introduced in the legislature at the behest of the special commission and the house committee has killed these three:

1. The municipal bond refund bill to permit cities to use retirement levies temporarily for operating expenses.

2. The bill to permit subdivisions to levy temporary taxes outside the limitation on real estate.

3. The old age pension bill requiring counties to finance half the payments.

To replace the commission's old age pension bill the house tax committee voted to recommend passage of the Keifer bill which would require the state to pay the full amount of old age pensions.

Several organizations holding large amounts of municipal bonds, including the teachers retirement system and the Ohio Municipal Bondholders Association, objected to approval of the bond refunding measure.

Bishops and Bobcats Next Week Feature

ATHENS, Feb. 9. — Basketball interest in Southeastern Ohio will reach the white-heat stage Wednesday night when the league-leading Ohio Wesleyan quintet meets Ohio University here.

Coach "Butch" Grover and his Bobcats courtmen will attempt to stall the high-geared basketball machine of the Bishops before what promises to be one of the largest crowds to jam into the Men's gymnasium. Ohio Wesleyan gained a four-point victory over Ohio on the Delaware court and fans expect a hard-fought game.

The Wednesday night cage headliner will probably measure up to the usual caliber of the Ohio-Ohio Wesleyan athletic contest - that, regardless of comparative league standings of both teams, one of the fiercest battles of the season is forthcoming.

About This And That

WITH his Ohio Wesleyan Bishop hopes perched in first place in the Buckeye Athletic association, Coach Ray Detrick is experiencing one of its most successful season. The Methodists were defeated last week-end at Huntington, W. Va., by Marshall college, but came back on Tuesday evening to soundly drub the Marshallites.

Wesleyan won its 100th game for Detrick by defeating Wittenburg two weeks ago. The school's basketball team has averaged 36.8 points per game since 'Det' took over its destinies.

He began his cage career at Huron high school in 1917 being a member of the state championship team. He starred as an athlete at Wittenburg, coached at Wellsburg high school, then went to Mt. Union, Alliance. He coached Highland Park, Mich., high school before going to Wesleyan in 1926.

A 'championship' that doesn't mean a thing will be decided this evening when Ashville and Salt-creek boys' varsities meet on the Tarleton court. Neither team has lost a game and both will be fighting to retain their undefeated standing.

A survey of county schools shows that there are only six seniors on all 13 squads who are experiencing their fourth year on varsity squads-Jackson has not yet been heard from so we are not certain this figure is exactly right.

Pickaway has Mace Brown, 19; Deercreek, Bob Carter, 17; Darby, Gene Winfough, 18, and Ray Dountz, 19, and Monroe has Robert Walters, and Lawrence Sollars, each 18. THERE WILL BE MORE STATISTICS CONCERNING THE TEAMS FROM TIME TO TIME.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Andy Varipapa of Brooklyn, generally acknowledged to be one of the three outstanding bowlers in the world, had two more perfect games to his credit today.

Exhibiting his talent on a Brooklyn alley, Varipapa threw 23 successive strikes for two perfect 300 games and a third score of 290. In nine games Varipapa compiled an average of 256.

The noted star has bowled 26 perfect games.

VITAL GAMES SCHEDULED IN COUNTY RACE

Three Girls' Teams Have Chance To Obtain Fourth Tournament Berth.

Important games are on the schedule this evening in the Pick-away-co cage race. The fourth berth in the girls' division is at stake with Monroe, New Holland, and Darby all having a chance to get into the tournament.

Ashville, Walnut, and Scioto are three of the teams already in.

Muhlenberg plays at New Holland and Darby at Monroe. As the standing now rests Monroe has won four and lost one in games that counted for the tournament; New Holland has three and two and so has Darby. If New Holland and Darby win a three-way tie will exist for the fourth position.

What would be done in that case is not certain.

VICTORY NEEDED

If Monroe girls are victorious turning back the Darby team then the position will be clinched for that aggregation with five victories and one defeat.

The other feature of the evening will be Ashville traveling to Tarleton to meet the Saltcreek-twop outfit. Neither team, that is boys, has been beaten so this game is of real importance. Ashville will be playing without the services of Wink Wellington, sterling forward, who injured his arm in a practice game.

WIND UP SCHEDULE

The games tonight wind-up the pre-tournament schedule with all teams now turning their attention to next Saturday when the important contests open in the C. A. C. Gym.

BREMER HELPS

Bremer, wealthy brewer and a personal friend of President Roosevelt, to allow him a lone hand in negotiating for his 37 year old son's release. But with Bremer's return the wide-spread search was unleashed.

All of the $200,000 ransom money demanded was paid over to the kidnapers, in the denominations specified, by Walter W. Magee, wealthy contractor and close friend of the Bremer family. Used paper money, $115,000 in $10 bills and the remainder in $5 bills, made up the ransom payment delivered in two oversize suit boxes of cardboard construction.

Magee refused to disclose details of the manner in which the ransom money was delivered, but it was learned from other sources that he made the delivery from an automobile that was found waiting for him on a Minnesota highway by prearrangement.

From his own car Magee stepped into the abandoned car and drove until he received a signal of flashing automobile lights. He then stepped from the small coupe, placed the two money-filled boxes on the ground beside the highway and drove on. This transaction was carried out near Faribault, Minn.

Investigation disclosed that the money first was to be paid over last week at a Des Moines hotel, but Magee was unable to carry out instructions at the appointed time because the ransom money was held in a bank vault equipped with a time lock. This hitch in the negotiations accounted, federal officials said, for the protracted silence on the part of the kidnapers and Bremer's long imprisonment.

It was further revealed that, despite denials, Dr. H. T. Nippert of St. Paul received three notes of instructions from the kidnapers Jan. 20 when a milk bottle was tossed through a glass door at his home. These notes were believed to have led to arrangements for the ransom delivery in Des Moines.

SHOE STRIKE ENDS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9. — Ending their two-day "passive resistance" strike, employees of the H. C. Godman Shoe Co., returned to work today following an agreement with Frederick A. Miller, president of the company, on methods of arbitration.

The strike was called after W. B. Wenning, an agent of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union, had been refused recognition by officials of the shoe company as the official spokesman of the workers.

Increased wages and better working conditions are being sought by the company workers.

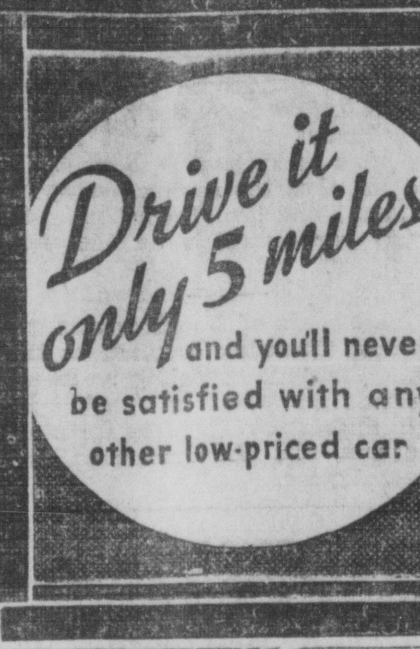

MAECHTEL RITES

Interment will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery, Columbus, by M. S. Kinehart.

Mrs. Pierson
(The Accountant's Wife)
Says...

"I Found My Gas Savings Where I Hadn't Looked!"

HARRY PIERSON, the accountant, seldom has opportunity to apply his profession to family problems, but the other evening his wife raised a question about gas rates that was "right down his lane". She was worried about what a 10-percent change in the gas rate might do to their budget. Harry told her that their gas bill takes less than three percent of his earnings — and one-tenth of that amount, either added or subtracted, would make little difference. He told Mrs. Pierson that she would find her true savings or loss by determining what it would cost to do her cooking with substitute fuels.

She found that she could pay as much as $2.50 per 1000 cubic feet for cooking gas, and still no other fuel would cost less. That makes it worth a lot more than she ever has been asked to pay. In fact she saves more on gas for cooking than she pays for it. That's how Mrs. Pierson found her gas savings where she hadn't looked before.

It is little wonder that Mrs. Pierson didn't know where to look for her savings. She has heard so many political utterances on gas rates that she overlooked the value of gas entirely. Her basis for discovering the $2.50 value of gas was a survey taken of 1000 families cooking with different fuels. Your family may not be interested in accounting, but the same principle of savings applies to your home as well. Realizing this, you will appreciate gas as one of your greatest bargains.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Old man winter blew a frigid breath on the middle west today.

A Salad for a St. Valentine's Luncheon Party

Tomato aspic with or without finely chopped vegetables, garnished with olives, tomato and little pickles, makes a colorful salad for parties on the 14th of February. Receipts and other timely suggestions and ideas are given elsewhere on this page.

Valentine Accents In a Grown Up Guest Luncheon

Luncheon or a bridge supper or an afternoon bridge party at this season may take on a colorful and gay atmosphere with a St. Valentine's touch. For example the delicious red, tomato aspic heart salad, illustrated, is easily made, and only needs to be put in heart shaped moulds, or if poured into a flat, square pan, is then cut out with stiff, with a large heart shaped cutter. The moulds are preferable though, for they are better shaped and the resulting salad is better looking.

Valentine Salad
One envelope gelatine; one half cups cold water; three and one half cups tomatoes (canned or cooked); one half small onion; one half bay leaf; one fourth teaspoon salt; stalk of celery; two cloves; few grains cayenne; two tablespoons vinegar, especially tarragon vinegar. Cover the gelatine with the cold water and let soak five minutes. Put all the other ingredients except the vinegar in an enameled saucepan bring to the boil, and counting from the time the boiling begins, cook for ten minutes. Add the vinegar and soaked gelatine, and stir until the gelatine is completely dissolved, then strain through cheesecloth. Turn into moulds wet with ice water and chill several hours or over night in the coldest part of the refrigerator. When quite firm unmould on a plate garnished with crisp lettuce, and decorate the top with a curl of mayonnaise. See illustration. A few stuffed olives on the same plate add a pretty and flavorful touch.

Valentine Salad, Number Two
One cup cooked chicken; one cup mayonnaise; one half cup minced celery; three fourths cup chicken stock; one bunch heart celery, and leave it in stalks; one good sized boiled beet; one package of a heaping tablespoon gelatine.

Slice the beet crosswise using a sharp knife and making very thin slices. With a small vegetable cutter or scissors cut slices into heart shapes and lay on paper towel to drain off the excess juice.

Cover the gelatine with one half cup cold water for five minutes. Heat the chicken stock and season with pepper, celery salt and a little onion juice, and dissolve the gelatine in it, heating only just long enough to dissolve the gelatine. Stir to keep the stock from settling, then add to the stock, the minced celery and three fourths of the mayonnaise.

Wet a mould with ice water and turn in the mixture to the depth of one half inch. Chill and when firm, arrange a thin ring of strips trimmed from the beet, then a little more of the stock mixture. When this is firm arrange the beet hearts around the edge, with the points toward the center, then carefully lay in by spoonfuls more of the stock mixture which has been kept soft over hot water. Cover beets by degrees with the stock, reserving just enough to wet the chicken.

Now mix remaining stock with the chicken, carefully lay in on the chilled, firm top layer of stock; cover the mould and let chill in the coldest part of the refrigerator until very firm. When ready to serve dip the mould for a few minutes in boiling water and invert on a serving platter which should be perfectly flat; a few flat pieces of crisp lettuce make a nest for this mould. Border with the stalk celery which has been crisped in ice water and cut in slender straws; top with decorations of mayonnaise.

Beet Salad
Another red salad delicious as well as good looking, and appropriate for the Valentine menu is this one:

Five medium sized beets; a boiled dressing made of one half cup vinegar; one half cup water; one tablespoon sugar; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon white pepper; one level teaspoon cornstarch; one and one half tablespoons butter; one egg yolk. Mix all except the egg yolk and cook gently in an enameled saucepan until the mixture begins to thicken. The cornstarch must be moistened with a little cold water before mixing with the other. Take from the fire, stir in quickly the beaten egg yolk then cook until smooth and thick. Chill the cold, cooked beets moisten with the dressing. Make cups of the tender white leaves of cabbage and fill with the beets, and top with a little more of the dressing seasoned with a few drops of onion juice.

WEIGHT CONTEST STARTS TUESDAY

The February session of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was held Thursday evening with approximately seventy members present. Lunch was served by William Fitzpatrick and his committee. The first program of the "Contest of Weights" was put on for the entertainment of the members and the consideration of the judges. R. M. Leach is serving in the place of Glenn Nickerson. His cohorts are Ross Kirkpatrick and Fred Nichols.

The program was put on by the Middle-weights, under the direction of Charles Weidinger. The program consisted of music by the Old Timers (H. A. Bumgarner, L. V. Martin and Carl Seitz), followed by a paper on "Conditions in the West in 1933" by J. C. Goeller. Then the entire group sang "I Want to Sing Like the Birdies Sing," with Frank Palm doing the musical readings in his inimitable way.

Ervin Leist then gave a paper on the "History of Boxing" this being in keeping with a Contest of weights.

C. G. Chalfin then sang "Puddin' Head Jones" followed by more music by the Old Timers.

Cancellation of all contracts found to be not compatible with public interest can be ordered by either President Roosevelt, in an executive order, or by Postmaster General Farley. Take a half teaspoon every morning before breakfast in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. HAVE'N'T you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Soil That Disappears

CREATION of the soil-erosion service in the Department of Interior and the formulation of a vast program for it does not necessarily tend to defeat the purposes of plans of the federal government for farm relief through crop reduction. The government will not reclaim erosive lands for cultivation.

Erosion is an ancient devourer of agricultural land, but its destruction power has only recently been realized. Denude a slope of its trees, burn away its brush and turn herds and blocks upon it to keep its grass eaten close to the turf and erosion within a few years will convert it into a bar-ren, gullied land.

Knowing these facts the government is justifiably alarmed and concerned, but it could not spare the money at this time if it were not possible to kill two birds with one stone. Land reclamation of any sort provides a high per centage of re-employment per dollar invested.

Perhaps the largest project the new federal service will undertake is the 15,000,000-acre undertaking in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.
The Navajo and Zuni reservations are in this area, which is another argument in favor of the scheme.

Out of this program will come millions of acres of valuable forests, new grazing areas and a paradise for sportsmen. And in the mean time the jobless will be given work and many unprofitable farms will be taken off the hands of struggling farmers and ranchers.

The chief criticism of Mr.
Roosevelt is that he lets the rain fall on Republicans, too.

Here Comes Emma

BACK home after 14 years of exile, Emma Goldman, one of America's original communists, ent from the one she left without too much reluctance in 1920. In fact had this remarkable transformation not taken place she would not be here on a 90-day

When "Red Emma" was placed aboard a ship bound for Russia by department of justice agents the United States was the scene of unprecedented labor troubles, was not enjoying too much prosperity and had worked itself up or had been worked up into a fever of "Red" hysteria. The "Red Peril" had supplanted the "Yellow Peril" in the minds of the imaginative and in the inflammatory oratory of politicians.

In the intervening 14 years America has tasted unprecedented prosperity and the opposite extreme of hard times; it has seen capitalism glorified in the minds of the people and seen the same capitalism utterly fail the nation and the people in a crisis; and it has experienced a change of heart toward Soviet Russia. The American people no more embrace communism today than they did in 1920, but neither do they fear the new Russia.

Emma is finding a different psychology prevailing among her adopted people (she was born in Russia) but the change is not due to her martyrdom.

"KNAVE'S GIRL"

By JOAN CLAYTON
COPYRIGHT 1932, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

CHAPTER ONE

It was the last rubber of the evening. Both sides were vulnerable. Patricia Warren had carried the bid to six hearts. She studied the one small trump in the dummy.
Could she make the contract? She avoided her partner's eyes. At the moment more than anything in the world she dreaded Eileen Sycott's complaining whine. When one is paid to fill in at bridge one must learn to take such things lightly.
But that, Patricia had never learned.

She led the singleton from the dummy. Her face was pale, her hands were shaking slightly as she played the ace. With four trumps out the Knave should fall. It did not fall. Patricia experienced a shock of pure dismay. The four missing hearts were massed against her. Across the table Eileen Sycott winced audibly. She was a fussy little fat woman, elaborately jewelled. Her expression mingled pain and indignation.

"You should have tried the fin-ness," she observed in an injured, faintly acid tone. She ignored the straightness of her young guest's lips. Julian Haverholt frowned.

"An absurd risk," he put in sharply. "The chances were all that she would drop the Knave."
"Patricia shouldn't have bid the slam without a solid trump suit."
"You invited the slam with a bid of five!"

"Patricia looked frightened. But he tall, gray haired Julian Haverholt was perhaps the greatest bridge player in America. His presence in Mrs. Sycott's luxurious Washington Square apartment was the result of weeks of patient strategy. An acknowledged genius in his own field he had long ago adopted the mercurial temperament of genius. He was entirely capable of flinging his cards to the floor and stalking from the house forever. The wealthy, socially minded widow dared not offend him, though she was secretly infuriated and determined that Patricia should pay for her wounded amour propre.

She erased the petulant scowl that marred her forehead, glanced at Haverholt and smiled sweetly.
When he failed to soften she hastily poured upon her shrinking partner a stream of insincere reassurance.

The girl detected its insincerity and was not reassured. She knew that she must make the bid. In a passion of concentration she studied the hand. Deliberately she emptied her mind of everything except the game. Already she had lost one trick. There must be some way to make the rest. She leaned forward tense, rigid as a statue. The brilliance of her eyes increased; her pallor deepened. She stared and stared at the cards exposed, unconscious of Haverholt's fascinated regard or of Mrs. Sycott's restless stirring or of the second man's open boredom. They were nothing to her now. Only the cards were real.

Some way out, there must be some way out—some way to make the slam. There was one way. And presently with a queer slow stir of the blood Patricia saw that way. A quadruple grand coup, one of the rarest plays in bridge, would capture the trump honor—if it worked.
Patricia began to tremble.

She led the first card. Her campaign was planned. She executed it with speed and brilliancy. There was no faltering now. She seemed made of iron, nerveless. Shuttlecock flashed to and fro from the dummy to her own hand. The room was silent save for the fall of cards on the polished table. Patricia took the ninth trick, the tenth. Her breath came faster. The coup was working. It had worked! As Eileen Syccott, crowing triumphantly, raked in the precious twelfth trick, Patricia leaned back against her chair and burst into tears.

Immediately Haverholt was be-

"Miss Warren has a job now with me—if she wants it," declared Haverholt unexpectedly.

side her.
"Whatever is the matter?" demanded Mrs. Sycott crossly. "I never saw a luckier card player."
"I don't know when I've seen a better card player," said Haverholt in reproach. He added reflectively,
"that is, of course, excluding myself."

Patricia smiled wanly at this characteristic bit of braggadocio.
Her tears, the product of over-wrought nerves, stopped as abruptly as they had come. She declined a handkerchief. Instinctively she divined her hostess's annoyance at the situation. Haverholt still held her arm. It seemed to her that the touch verged on intimacy. She shifted her position. The insistent pressure did not lessen. Haverholt's gaze too was warm and practiced.

"I'm all right now," Patricia announced, sending a wintry glance to the man who stood above her.
"Sure?"
"Quite sure."

Reluctantly his hands dropped.
Eileen Sycott and young Tommy Armour were busy adding up the score. Mrs. Sycott's pointed concentration testified to her continued irritation. So when Haverholt again spoke of the play of the last hand, Patricia said:

"You've forgotten that my partner's bidding had something to do with the result."
Somewhat red of face Eileen Sy-cott chimed in, "Mr. Haverholt doesn't seem to realize that if I hadn't bid five you couldn't have gone to six."

"Ah—but I do realize it," said Haverholt in a peculiar voice. "You remarked on that earlier." Mrs. Sycott looked at him in a rather baffled fashion but when he joined her on the other side of the table she seemed mollified. For minutes Patricia had longed to go.
Now she rose and slipped inconspic-uously toward the door. But Haverholt had been watching her.

"You're not going!" he exclaimed, surprised. "Why we probably owe you thousands of dollars. How much is it, Tommy?" he inquired of his friend.
"Seventy dollars apiece is what I make it."
"You don't owe me anything," murmured Patricia.
Again she attempted to escape.
But this was the opportunity for which Eileen Sycott had been waiting and she seized it.

"Patricia can't afford to gamble," she explained in quiet satisfaction. "I carry the child and pay her for her time."
"It must be a darned good investment," remarked young Armour. "I wouldn't mind making a similar investment myself. How about it some evening, Miss Warren?"

"Only play in the neighborhood," said Patricia, stiffly.
"Her stepmother runs a little shop in the next block," resumed Mrs. Sycott, taking placid command of the conversation. "Patricia hasn't been able to get a job and so—"
"Miss Warren has a job now with me—if she wants it," declared Haverholt unexpectedly. He looked straight into Patricia's eyes and said, "I'll make you one of the world's great bridge players."

Eileen Sycott's mouth made a round red "o" of surprise. "Marvelous!" she cried, clapping her hands in belated delight. Young Armour was the picture of astonishment. A thousand times he had heard Haverholt's opinions of women at the game of bridge.
Patricia alone was silent. She seemed dazed by good fortune. Her eyes were like stars; her lips were half parted. Haverholt's offer almost overwhelmed the girl who for weeks, for months, had trod the streets of New York in hopeless search of a job. That year not even her fresh and lovely face could gain her a hearing. Always the fatal words "no experience" had barred her out. And now—this, the miracle! A miracle that meant her two small stepisters could have the clothes, the nourishing food they needed, a miracle that meant independence for Patricia herself, a miracle that meant escape from her stepmother's nagging voice. Patricia wanted to dance, to shout with joy. Her brilliant eyes were fixed upon the handsome, gray haired man.

"I—I can hardly believe you mean it," she faltered.
"I do mean it."
"You're a very lucky little girl, announced Eileen Sycott, resigned to the inevitable.
"Oh, don't I know it!"

LOOKING BACK In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The grand jury is expected to investigate alleged gambling at the Southern club, Harrison-twp, according to Prosecutor Crist.

Forty-six tables of cards were in play at Memorial Hall for the benefit of the Red Cross.

A bill of Sen. C. C. Chappellear has been submitted to penalize persons wearing insignia of organizations to which they do not belong.

15 YEARS AGO

Six Ashville men, Leroy Noggle, Jesse Welsh, Clarence
Baum, Lloyd Gardner, Clark Raver, and Walter Gloyd, have received chevrons for being in the force that broke the Hindenburg line.

The Franklin touring car of Cary Short was damaged
when struck by a traction car in Columbus.

25 YEARS AGO

Jacob Merz has sold his grocery at Watt and Pick-away-sts to H. R. Grant.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, former residents here, died in Columbus of burns after he swallowed some hot molasses.

George Trimble has obtained a position in the linen department of the S. Rinds-foos store.

J. F. Carle was host to members of city council and other officials at a theatre party at the Metropolitan.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The sun evidently has set on the day of the Hollywood motion picture double, it was revealed recently when Paramount's troupe filming Zane Grey's outdoor romance
"The Thundering Herd" went on location at Lone Pine, California.

Directed by Henry Hathaway, the picture now showing at the Cliftona Theater features Randolph
Scott, Judith Allen, Harry Carey, Buster Crabbe, Noah Berry and Raymond Hatton, and despite the many hazardous stunts called for in the script of the drama not a double was included in the studio party of eighty persons.

Tea years ago a company was not considered complete unless each actor and actress had a double, particularly for the leading man. But no one does the fast riding, flying mounts and flying dismounts for Randolph Scott.

AT THE GRAND

Born, bred, raised—and succeeded in Hollywood!

That's the story of William Bakewell, who is featured as Colonel Tim McCoy's brother in the Columbia production, "Straightaway," coming to the Grand Theater Friday. And today he lives within four blocks of his birthplace.

Bakewell graduated from a military school near Los Angeles at 17—and immediately got himself a job in motion pictures as an extra in "He's a Prince." For two years he remained an extra and
"bit" player.

Hinduism and Buddhism

Hinduism and Buddhism alike have stressed impressively, in the well-known doctrines of Karma and rebirth, the great truth of the disciple of consequences for the purification and perfection of human life.

Use Leisure Time for Health

Your Vacation Should Be Used to Build a Reserve of Energy

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

IN A CITY park, the other day, I was amused by the sight of two sailors rowing on one of the lakes.
Though off sea duty, they sought relaxation and pleasure in this form of recreation and seemed to enjoy it. This seems a strange vacation for a sailor.

Dr. Copeland

You cannot do better than to follow the example of the sailor who chose
the recreation
that gave him
the most pleasure. Though a change of scene
is advisable, a vacation should be a period of mental and physical rest.

Too often time and energy are wasted in efforts at recreation. Little rest is obtained and, in many instances, the vacationist returns more tired than he was before he started.

Avoid Over-Exertion

If you return worn out and nervous your vacation has really been harmful. How can rest be obtained if strenuous exercise, late hours and little sleep make up the vacation period? Indeed, too many of us indulge in sports that are unsuited to our physical powers.

A week-end at the seashore may lead to over-exertion in swimming.
This is a dangerous procedure, because it is not every heart that can endure strenuous swimming, even for a short time. Few persons consult their doctors before indulging in energetic exercises. They do not inquire whether they can swim in the ocean or just how much swiming it is safe to take. There is no doubt that many of the serious ailments could be avoided if more persons did this.

Vacations Are Necessary

Sea bathing is beneficial to some and harmful to others. Mountain air is extremely healthful to some and injurious to others. No definite rule can be laid down because the factors that influence the choice of climate are individual. They depend on the state of health.

No one will deny that vacations, whether long or short, in winter or summer, are necessary. The maintenance of good health depends on the sensible use of leisure. A properly conducted vacation improves the appetite, digestion and sleep. Otherwise it does not benefit the body.

The wise plan is to take stock of your physical health by periodical examinations. Your physician will advise whether you may exercise vigorously or if it is best to avoid exertion and strain. He will make suggestions that will increase the benefits of the days away from work.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. C. V. A. Q.—Nearly all summer I have been bothered by spells of sneezing, especially in the mornings. I have no cold but I have noticed that I have to use my handkerchief freely and seem to feel very blue and depressed. Could this be hay fever? What can be done in this case?

A.—May be due to hay fever, or to some underlying catarrhal condition, or obstruction in the nose. Examination should help to fix the exact cause. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

of the NRA Consumers' Advisory Board.

Division No. 3 governing chemicals and leather, is under the only Administrator from the ranks of Labor. Major George Berry, hard working president of the Pressmen's Union.

Under him as Deputy Administrators are Roscoe S. Conkling, once connected with the firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co., investment corporation whose tangled affairs are now being unravelled by the courts; also A. B. Dickinson, who held positions with the New York Stock Exchange, J. & W. Seligman & Co., and for four years was field secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers, one of the bitterest foes of organized labor, and vigorous lobbyist against both the enactment and the operation of the NRA.

Textiles and Banking

Retail, banking, textile, and trade service codes fall under Division No. 4 and Administrator A.
D. Whiteside, President of Dunn & Bradstreet, former President of the Wool Institute; Whiteside is rated by Johnson as his ablest code executive, probably deserves that reputation, and looks at codes wholly from the point of view of management.

Deputy Administrator H. R.
Ludlum was with Whiteside in the Wool Institute, is Assistant to him as President of Dunn & Bradstreet, and is like his chief both in efficiency and viewpoint.

Deputy Administrator Kenneth Dameron is Executive of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and Director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers.
B. H. Gitchell, Deputy Administrator in charge of needle industries, is Assistant General Manager of Stern Brothers, one of New York's great department stores.

Division No. 5

The destinies of amusements and transportation are in the hands of Sol A. Rosenblatt, partner of David Burkan, famous New York theatrical and divorce lawyer, young, hard worker, highly esteemed by Johnson.

Deputy Administrator in charge of transportation codes is E. E.
Hughes, former executive of the Westinghouse Electric Co., the Bush Terminal of New York, and the Chesapeake Electric Co., of Baltimore.

Johnson makes no secret of the fact that he has picked his code-makers from business and industrial ranks. "Who else," he asks, "should I turn to? These are the men who know the game."

"But," claim his critics on Capitol Hill, "it is a long-established principle that the negotiator between Labor, Capitol and Consumer should be unbiased."
The issue promises to be one of the most important facing the New Deal.

Kansas Felons After Recapture

Food and cigarets looked good to these three convicts following their capture near Louisburg, Kan. They escaped with four others from the State Penitentiary at Lansing and three days later were taken after a gun fight in which their leader, Bob Brady, was slain. Left to right, are Fred Cody, Tommy McMahon and Benjamin Young.

MEDICAL ADVICE
If you want to
... relieve constipation gently and safely
... take the exact dose suited to your need
... avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes," say medical men.
"Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and knew.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can safely relieve this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit your individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later.
Nor will it irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The unwise use of strong cathartics may often do more harm than good.

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr.

Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label: fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action.
Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drug stores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

THE TEST:

This test has proved to many men and women
that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics!

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative.
Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord
—Dr. Caldwell's Syrup
Pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used.

bers that are responsible for the Cites, County and Townships receiving a greater share of the gasoline tax money. I sponsored a bill reducing the tag tax on the four classes of lighter weight trucks, got it through the Motor Vehicle Committee, but because of lack of interest taken by certain State Grange and certain State Farm Bureau leaders of the bill, it died in the Calendar Committee.

"I used all of my resources as a Representative in keeping a bill from becoming a law that would have cut the minimum wage of grade teachers below a living wage. The bill said nothing about the wage of those higher up in educational matters. I have persistently fought for the under class; I belong in that class myself.

CITES EXPERIENCE
"Experience counts in legislation, more so than in any other public office because it is initiative, you have nothing to guide you except your judgment and conscience. Experience in legislation makes more state leaders and more national leaders than all other sources combined.

"These have been unusual times to serve the public, the worst in the history of the nation. The 89th and 90th general Assemblies have had very grave questions to work out. The members of these two assemblies have put in three times the work for the same money than any body of legislators in the history of the State. The present 90th General Assembly still has plenty of work to do. The next, the 91st, will still have plenty to do on the same line as that of the 89th and 90th. We are not back to normal times, we are on the way, we have the first furrow plowed. Would you change an efficient seasoned horse in tough plowing for a green one? I claim no more ability than any other resident of the county with fair judgment and common sense. But, experience is needed in legislation in trying times.

It is predicted that the next General Assembly will discard all of the present tax system, and put into force an entirely new one, you need tried friends of the honest taxpayer then.

ONLY ONE WEST
"There is a general belief among the Democrats of the west side of the river that they are getting into the crumbs of the elective county officials. Of the thirteen elective offices held by Democrats, only one (Bob) is west of the river, not a deputy or even a clerk from west of the river.

"Give credit where it belongs and condemnation where it belongs. It is the legislature that make the appropriations for the running of all of the departments of state. The Legislature reduced the biennial expenses from $84,000,000 in Cooper's term to $56,000,000 White's first term and to $41,000,000 White's second term. "I am a dirt farmer member of the legislature, individual business.

WESLEY PLAYERS HERE FEBRUARY 18

The Wesley Foundation players from Ohio university will appear in the local Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, Feb. 18, and give the play "The Lost Church."

The play has a strong message in that it shows how much civilization as a whole is indebted to the church. Its final message is that "Faith, Crowning Glory of the Christian Church," is necessary for us to "Behold the end of life's long search."

There will be 20 people in the group including the manager and musicians.

Rev. Herman Sayre, of the local church, is a member of the Board of Regents of the Wesley Foundation work at the university.

guards hearing any sound. The two federal guards assigned to watch over the prisoner had turned their backs on Sankey for only five minutes. When the pair, A. B. Neely and Frank Gilmors, returned they found the prisoner's body swinging from a crossbar.

Upon his capture in a barber chair last week in Chicago Sankey was subjected to seven grilling by federal department of justice agents as a suspect in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, but he steadfastly denied any connection with the crime. He had confessed, however, to the kidnaping of Boettcher and of Haskell Bohn, son of the wealthy St. Paul, Minn., refrigerator manufacturer.

Held in an adjoining cell in solitary confinement was Gordon Alcorn, reputed chief lieutenant of Sankey and likewise facing trial for the Boettcher kidnaping. One of the guards had left to get some headache tablets for Alcorn when Sankey carried out his plan of self-destruction. It was held probable that Alcorn's request was only a ruse.

MAY PLEAD GUILTY

Sankey and Alcorn were to have entered a plea today before Judge A. Lee Wyman. Byron S. Payne, assistant United States district attorney, said Alcorn will definitely plead guilty. Payne said an effort would be sent immediately if a guilty plea is entered.

ENDURANCE DRIVE IS PLANNED HERE

A new record for continuous driving of an automobile will be the aim of an endurance driver who will be handcuffed to the steering wheel of an automobile and start his endurance drive next Tuesday.

The driver will be masked as is his custom and known only as the "Mystery Driver."

The mystery driver will be handcuffed to the steering wheel of a new Ford V8 furnished by the Reliable Motor Co., the local Ford dealer, at about 9 a. m. Tuesday and will drive until he has broken the present record, or until human frailty succumbs to the severe test of human endurance.
